Saturday, July 14th, over thirty relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott who reside north of town, met with them to help celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The day was fine. A table was prepared in a grove near their home, where a dinner was served that would do honor to any wedding occasion. When the dinner was nearly finished, Ed. Tanner brought out a large and beautiful wedding cake, which was made by himself and sister, Mrs. Otterbier. Before passing the cake, Mr. Tanner announced that there was a wedding ring concealed in some part of the cake. This caused quite a commotion among the young people, there being quite a number present. Miss Coral Elliott drew the ring, and acknowledged her thanks by a very pink complexion, which she could not very well avoid in the midst of so much hand clapping and cheering. A short program was given of songs, recitations and select readings which was enjoyed by all. Mrs. O. L. Farmer gave a biography of the life of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott since 1867. Mrs. Rachel Sanderson of Winn gave a very interesting talk on the dress and costumes of fifty years ago; of how the young people attended parties and public gatherings with ox teams and a long sled instead of sleighs. Rev. J. D. Tanner also gave an interesting talk on some of the good times they had in those days. Mr. Elliott was called upon to tell the young folks how to get tied up for life; how on July 14, 1867, he and Amy Bailey, both of Ambury township, Hillsdale county, Michigan, rode on horse back the whole length of the township to the office of a justice of the peace, since the groom failed to procure the only buggy in that vicinity. But as it was quite customary to travel on horse back in those days it wasn't considered any thing strange or out of place. After going the whole length of the township, which is twelve miles long, they failed to find the justice at home, so they had to go back six miles to another justice and get the knot tied there. He also told them how they had journeyed through life, sharing each other's joys and sorrows alike and of the struggles and hardships of early days. After presenting the bride and groom of fifty years with many pretty and useful presents, and wishing them many happy years to come, the crowd dispersed, all feeling glad they had been there.
